This year—the first one grew in West Bradford measured 10 inches in circumference, and weighed 9 1-2 cones. The growth of such fruit worth attending to.

MORRIS, Alabama, Aug. 24.—It is our painful duty to record the death of Doctor James M. Tussey, a native of Princeton, New Jersey, and late surgeon of the U. S. Arsenal, at Mount Vernon in this state. As he was returning from a visit to a patient, he was thrown violently from his horse, in the neighbourhood of Mount Vernon, which occasioned his immediate death.

PHILADELPHIA.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1830.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

T. R. C.—Probably next week.

"Mentor"—The subject will scarcely receive any benefit from discussion.

"Modestus"—We shall consider of his proposal.

"Epicurus"—The science of Gastronomy is little understood by these engaged with papers.

"Mullett"—

"Can coin or counterfeit
New words with little or no wit;
Words so debased and hard, no stone
Is hard enough to touch them on."

But they won't be taken for current by us.

Several well written articles have been crowded out by the press of matter this week.

A new mint of the United States is building, in Chesnut, between Juniper and Broad streets. It will be an elegant and spacious building, the edifice being supported by six large and lofty ionic columns.

We received the first number of the Journal of Health, Vol. II. on Wednesday. The work appears to be in a flourishing condition.

Young Kean is engaged at the Arch street theatre. It is hoped that the Americans will not visit the sins of the fathers upon the children. We hear that Clara Fisher is to appear among us again in a short time. Herr Cline is performing at Arch street. Rope dancing is fit only for the circus. A communication in the United States Gazette speaks of the "eloquence" of this individual. We have heard of the eloquence of rope dancers, but it has been such as ascended on perpendicular, and not horizontal poles.

THE FREDONIAD.

Mr. Emmons, the publisher of this voluminous work, is now making exertions to issue a second edition. He presented a copy of the first edition to the Marquis Lafayette, and received a flattering letter from the great General in return. The Fredoniad is the largest poem in the world, not even excepting the works of Spenser and Homer. Like Shakespeare, Mr. Emmons scorns to be tied down by musty rules; unities are an imputation upon him; he flourishes away with most forty different actions in the course of fifty cantos. Homer took a foolish notion to make his books correspond to the number of letters in the Greek alphabet: this might be proper for an abecedarian, but it is unworthy of a great poet. Virgil and Milton, with a sickly selfishness, confined their epics to twelve books, as if they would intimate that they valued their own bardships at but half the rate of Homer's. We are happy to see that no such folly exists in these times, and the number of books is indefinite. The Fredoniad has forty, and are no more able to assign the motive for the number being fixed on, than we are able to account for the numerical strength of the Forty verses. We shall take some future opportunity pointing out a few of the poetical beauties in which this patriotic poem abounds.

THE REVOLUTION IN FRANCE.

In another part of our paper will be found an account of this revolution, which was received late for publication last week. Opus n. n. may serve as a salutary example to tyrants, namely: the attempt to restrain the liberty of the press. It was this invasion of one of the least privileges of a community that aroused the resentment of the people. It would seem in the circumstance of the punishment falling on the right place, that the maxim, that "kings do no wrong" is becoming obsolete.

THE WORKING MEN.

To get into favour with the working men will be a great object of political intrigue. The working men ought to be on their guard; it is sometimes a difficult matter to know our friends from our enemies. Let no candidate for office supported until he pledges himself to maintain certain principles, and to reform, or endeavor to reform, certain abuses.

The laboring classes will do well to select a principle to fill the office at their disposal.

It is very easy to flatter, but men should be judged by their actions, not altogether by words. It is evident that the aim of many blooded politicians is to obtain offices, or make themselves appear consequential. Lit-dependance can be placed in such persons.

ANTI-MASONRY.

The number of Anti-masonic papers in the United States is one hundred and fourteen: viz. in New York, 42; in Pennsylvania, 42; in Connecticut, 10; in Rhode Island, 1; in Massachusetts, 5; in Vermont, 3; in Maine, 1; in New Jersey, 2; in New York, 3; in Indiana, 2; in Alabama, 1; in Virginia, 1; in Maryland, 1; in Michigan Territory, 1 total 114.

SACRILEGE.

The grave of Bonanuel Ogden, deceased, was desecrated a few evenings since, and the lid of the coffin broken, so as to leave the corpse exposed. The motive can be assigned for this outrage. The friends of the deceased have offered a reward of $50 for the discovery of the perpetrator of this inhuman deed, and the trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church of West Chester have offered an additional reward of twenty-five dollars for the same purpose—"that the decent and christian burial may not be violated with impunity."

News, &c.—A New York paper speaks not of the expensive dresses used in that city. It thinks it a shame that Dolly, the cook maid, not be distinguished in the street from my mistress. Is the editor a Republican, and does such distinctions to be made? We would leave to inform the gentleman that "the lasing mechanic," has as much right to set off his person with ornaments on Sunday, as the "proprietor of those elegant buildings which are raised by his hands." The only part of this argument against gay dresses that we object to is the attempt to cast the useful part of the community in the shade. Philosophers may regard expensive apparel as nonsense, but many very sensible men have fallen into this folly. If persons are so foolish as to dress beyond their means, their money will be apt to come into hands that know better how to manage it. "The proprietor of elegant buildings," may very frequently be in debt to the tailor, while the "laboring mechanic," pays for all he gets; in such cases the latter is better entitled to fine clothes than the former. But, after all this, young men commencing business should be cautious in launching out into extravagant dressing. It is fast deductible from all experience, that ladies will desire to suit their own fancy—to them, therefore, we say nothing. The engines of pulchritude and press have been directed against their costumes for ages, and they, all the time, have remained as unmoved as that steadfast star.

"To know, around the sale of the sky,
The best revealing, points his golden eye."

On the whole, they are not very blamable, nor, since they hold beauty as their chief commodity, they certainly do well to set it off to the best advantage.

Number of Steam Boats in England.—The following is an official account of the number of Steam vessels employed in the United Kingdom, from the year 1815 to the 31st January, 1830, with the amount of tonnage, and the number of tons of cargo on board.

If this number about 167 ply up and down the rivers, between London, Gravesend, Margate, Ramsgate, Newcastle, Leith, Glasgow, Bologne, Ostend, Hamburg, and St. Petersburg.

PITOMES OF THE TIMES.

The ship Kensington, which sailed from here a short time since for Russia, has been distressed in a severe gale. The crew remain with her. The passengers were taken off the wreck, and saved on Thursday night last, at New York.

We are pleased to state, says the Minerva of Saturday, that Mr. Sanderson, of the Merchants' Coffee House, is rapidly recovering from the injury he sustained by the upsetting of stage last week.

Patrick M'Laughlin, one of the six convicts who had escaped from our Walnut street prison a few days ago, has been captured in New York, and has been sent for by the proper authorities here. Two more of the fellows remain to be sent.

The removal of the Walnut street Prison, within two years, has been mentioned as probable. We observe, however, that the western wall is now repairing.

A woman was committed to prison in New York on Wednesday, charged with passing a dollar counterfeit note on Girard's Bank of this city.

A young man named Charles Wampler, a resident of York, Pa. committed suicide, by hanging on the night of the 23d ult. He had for some time indulged in habits of intemperance.

He number of slaves in the British West India and American colonies is, according to the returns,—males, 345,662; females, 345,424. A correspondent has furnished us with the following, which he assures us was faithfully copied from a Cape Cod Log Book. "This 24th a quinquina with fresh gale and troumy athar.—Winde Nothe Aest and klowdey.—I skipper pattenke barrills, all ye reate a gute-Kod fishie."

Madame Malbrain is said, in a London paper, to have been visited by an illness liable to injure social powers very materially. When here, she was known to be subject to violent attacks of "Nal" Navigation, between Harrisburg and Philadelphia, has been stopped for two weeks.

On account of the scarcity of water, the summit level of the Union Canal, loadboats cannot come further than Myerstown. The Pennsylvania canal is undergoing repairs at variety of points.

On the 24th of July, the Parliament of Great Britain was dissolved by proclamation.

The Charlottesville (Va.) Press, states it as a creditable to Jefferson county that the case of Coxe, was only the second execution that took place in that county. The first was that of a negro man in 1805. The Charlottesville, it is added, is now without a criminal—only three persons are in confinement there on the crime of debt.

The Mayor of New Orleans has offered a reward of five hundred dollars for the apprehension of the person or persons concerned in the late atrocious murder of the widow Crevecoeur, was found dead in her bed.

New York Commonwealth Advertiser of Saturday says—"The Marcellus" hymn was sung with great power at the theatre last night, by whole company, being repeatedly called for; the audience joined in the chorus. It was sung in both French and English."

Doctor Benjamin Lincoln, of Massachusetts, has elevated to the anatomical chair of the University of Maryland.

It is mentioned in an English paper that there are the gardens of Dr. Bright, in Derbyshire, a gooseberry-tree of the amazing breadth—eight feet. It has been planted thirty years, and is of the Dutch red kind. A single branch the parent tree measured forty-five feet length.

We learn from the Lycoming Chronicle, that the Governor of this Commonwealth, John ne Shulze, has purchased the estate known as "Arrowworth's Farm, in Fairfield Township, intends becoming a citizen of Lycoming county.

Milledgeville, Geo. in the case of Howard last Digby, in Baldwin Superior court, for perjury, jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, two thousand dollars.

On the 17th of September approaches, when the Senate will celebrate the centennial anniversary of the settlement of Boston. On the occasion a discourse will be delivered at the tabernacle by the Hon. Josiah Quincy, and a will be pronounced by Charles Sprague.

The secret duties will be performed by Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. Bartlett has resigned the Sherifalty of County (Mass) after having held that office more than forty years.

At Cincinnati, fifty cows have lately died eating poisonous plants in the neighborhood. Four men, employed to skin dead also. A similar occurrence took place a year ago.

The London Times says that there is not the truth in the report that the Duke of Argyll was to be appointed Lord High Admiral.

A French paper contains an account of a cure for catarrh, by continued friction for several hours during the day, for a period of three months, over the eye. Similar instances of cure have been related in this country.

One M'Abiel was arrested at New Orleans, on the 17th ult. charged with the assassination of a Balize pilot, named Hunt.

Flour was scarce at New Orleans, according to the Price Current, on the 21st ult. and worth from five to six dollars. The river was eleven or eight inches below high water mark.

A journal of the cruise of the Dolphin, in the Indian ocean, in pursuit of the mutineers of the John, is in press at New York. Lieut. M. C. Smith, of the U. S. Navy, is the author. The Editors of the Evening Post having seen the manuscript, think the book entertaining and instructive.

The anniversary of the Horticultural Society, New York, was celebrated with great splendor, on Tuesday, at Niblo's Garden. Unfortunately, about eight in the evening, a shed took fire, and the guests dispersed in great confusion. Two men lost their lives recently in Cincinnati, Ohio, by the falling of a bank of earth near which they were digging.

A western paper, in noticing the death of a child— "He has left a wife and four children, to the latter of whom the loss is irreparable."

A service of plate was presented to Haverly, Esq. of New Orleans, a few weeks since, the citizens of that place, as a token of their regard and esteem for his character, and an expression of their approbation of his conduct as Mayor of the District of Louisiana. The usual ceremonies passed on the occasion.

The New England Review mentions that William Lockhart was executed at Helena, Illinois, on the 19th ult. for the murder of James Seligman and his wife. He drank wine and spirits upon the scaffold, and was launched into eternity in a state of intoxication!

The interments in Baltimore last week numbered to 38—of this number 22 were under years of age.

The Norfolk Beacon says, "one hundred and twenty-five men, under the command of Lieutenant Murray, for the U. S. frigate Brandywine, arrived here on Thursday night last, from New York, in the schooner Empire."

Kenney of Mercer county, Ohio, was dead, and proceeded to shore, by his neighbors, and set for the evening, Mr. Lane. The act was perpetrated, as is supposed, under the influence of insanity.

The last Charleston, S. C. papers mention a violent hail storm was experienced at Swan's Island on the 31st ult. The hail was the size of pigeon eggs, or larger. During the storm, a negro man was struck by lightning and killed.

The Concord, Capt. Perry, with Mr. Randolph aboard, arrived in Yarmouth roads on the 23d ult. and proceeded to shore, by his neighbors, and set for the evening, Mr. Lane. The act was perpetrated, as is supposed, under the influence of insanity.

A letter received at New York, by the Age Canning, states that Mr. Randolph's ship was improving.

It is stated that the collections on board steamers, in Virginia, proceed fully equal to the expectations of the projectors of the plan.

The Boston Quebec Gazette states that the Revenue of the Province for the last quarter exceeds by several thousand pounds that of the corresponding quarter last year.

Living HICKOCK has never, we believe, exhibited in this city, and Dr. MITCHELL, New York, says that the individual lately brought into this country, is the first of the class he ever saw. This animal, said to be a remarkably fine specimen of a very rare species, had much attention in Boston and New York, and will be prepared to receive visitors, in city, within a few days. The Zoological Museum of natural history is highly interested and may be pursued to a reasonable extent, at the consumption of too much time. No doubt, it had proceeded to shore, by his neighbors, and set for the evening, Mr. Lane. The act was perpetrated, as is supposed, under the influence of insanity.

JOHN RICHMOND was lately committed for a robbery and assault and battery with intent to rob, committed on the person of his wife. The wife came before the Mayor this morning, showing the marks of his violence in a disarray of black eyes, and earnestly petitioned for his release. She described him as a man as any in the world, as a well-doer, as kind to his family; and was sure that he never had beaten her if he had not been drunk. Refused to interfere until security was given, and the wife undertook to procure a suitable.

Extract of a letter, dated St. Michael's June 30:—"The American brig Ann, Hammond, returned from New Orleans, for Madeira, had sailed at Funchal for refreshments, and, when six miles from Funchal, was taken by the Andromeda, and condemned to be sent home. A Spanish brig from Havana, for Cuba, with full cargo, condemned; English brig from Sierra Leone, full cargo, for England; English brig Velocity, from Brazil, for England, full cargo, and £20,000, condemned; and all to be sent to Lisbon. The captain of the American brig was in the most shameful manner of his weariparal.

Cincinnati Commercial Advertiser states that two men were taken at Dayton, Ohio, and taken to that city on the 26th ult. charged with the robbery, some days before, of a gentleman, at the Broadway hotel, of twelve hundred dollars. Some clothing that had been out of the trunk, and about $800 of the money were found upon them, and they were furnished for trial.

Letter has been received at Washington, N. Y. in the mate of the schooner Morse, giving intelligence of the loss of that vessel on her passage from New-York to that place, in the gale of the 17th ult. The mate, who was a brother Captain, states that the Morse foundered at one o'clock in the morning of the 18th, and to the northward of Hatteras, and that he, except himself and one seaman, who were their escape in the boat, perished. The mate died of exhaustion, and Mr. Morse, the survivor of the crew, was afterwards rescued by a schooner into Swansborough. Mr. Morse has been but a few months married, and a lady of that vicinity.

A gentleman of taste in Petersburg, who marries a descendant of Pocahontas, and in possession the paintings now are, gives it as his opinion, from the costume, that it was in the reign of James I. and certifies to the rigid fidelity with which Mr. Sully has copied the costume, and attitude, have been preserved from the exactness: The original is being rapidly, that it may be considered as already passed out of existence."

War or Ohio.—The state debt of Ohio is, at present, much greater in proportion than that of the United States. This debt is about $1,000,000, and allowing 100,000 inhabitants to pay taxes, it amounts to fifty dollars to every taxable inhabitant. The national debt is about $1,000,000,000, and allowing one million of inhabitants to pay taxes, it amounts to about $27 to every taxable inhabitant.

COMMUNICATION.

We have seldom observed, on the stage of variety theatre, so numerous a collection of beautiful women, than were collected together on Monday night, at the Walnut street theatre, at the singing of the Marseilles Hymn.—We are gratified to see the popular feeling for the rescue of the cause of freedom throughout France advanced so many lovely lives. The theatre was well filled;—we can no reason why it should not always be so;—spirited and most interesting manner in which this establishment is conducted, calls forth our unqualified approbation. The fireworks were splendid, and the vapour emblem, uniting the name of Lafayette with freedom, presented a coup d'oeil we little expected.

FRAUD IN COTTON.—The Intelligence, printed at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, mentions that the merchants of that place have recently entered an agreement to prosecute, in every instance, where fraud is discovered to have been practised in packing cotton and pledging themselves jointly to defray the expenses of prosecution. This spirited action has been adopted in consequence of several frauds of the kind having been detected at that place, and which had been heretofore allowed to pass, on the seller making up the deficiency. One or two cases of prosecution will doubt put an end to the practice, which grew waxed bolder upon the lenity observed towards those guilty of it.

BURTH OF JULY AT SEA.—A letter from one of the junior officers of the U. S. ship Hudson (now on the coast of South America), dated 12, gives the following brief account of the birth of the child the late National Anniversary noticed on board that ship:—

"We passed the 4th at sea, lat. 25 18 N., 5. lon. 70 W. We were favored with a pleasant breeze for the ocean breeze came at 11 A. M. all hands were called to muster, and the Declaration of Independence was read to an attention of its zealous supporters; and really the breeze was very imposing. After which we returned to our several apartments, and sat down to copious dinner; for, d'yee see, we kept an eye windward, and provided for it before we left the Video. The ship's company dined on sea-food (fresh pork) salt beef, plumb pudding, served with an extra glass of grog."

HARVEST.—Dr. J. W. Smith, of Lockport, Niagara county, says, in the American Farmer, that he has made for grapes in cold storage, and scales of iron or black oxide of iron from the forge, properly mixed with fine sand mould. The thought struck him from a ledge that the grapes flourish best in volcanic districts. His experience has proved the inferior value of this manure.

Warrior.—Heroes in all ages have generally been much attached to the fair sex, though they have occasionally preferred the booby. By Caesar, who was no less a man than you are, his leisure moments were devoted to writing the most touching love letters that ever existed, and was of a very amorous temperament; so much so, that this propensity appears sometimes to have even got the better of him. —Charles of Sweden sent female messengers to visit his friends, and to make visits to every altogether, not from any natural disposition or desire, but from a resolution formed in honor of anger. Attempting on a certain day to be familiar with a lady, he received a severe repulse, the lady sorry mistaking his tender overtures for want of success, that he immediately engaged her the sex altogether—which oath he religiously kept. A sober commentator on this passage of history might exclaim,—‘Oh ladies! be happy to it for you that every man who is so fond of trifling with you, has not the resolution to leave like Charles the Twelfth of Sweden.’

Mead's Antidyspeptic, OR STOMACH PILLS.
This medicine is the invention of a physician has applied his study and practice for a number of years to this distressing disease, and it is therefore the result of much experience. Induced by the numerous cures effected by Dyspeptic Pills (superior to anything else), he has concluded to publish a private practice of any individual whatever, that succeeds of these Pills in the cure of those who are afflicted with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, induced many persons, without any known materials made use of, as this celebrated remedy is sold to the public as a cure for Dyspepsia, various diseases of the stomach, liver, spleen, &c., and individuals, which, they have adopted the very words of the successful and scientific inventor of this medicine.—We are therefore prepared to observe that none are allowed the direction of accompanying each bottle the signature of GEORGE MEAD.

Dyspeptic Pills are sold of O. & W. Hall, 128, Nassau, New York, who are wholesale agents for the West.
